Exhibition

Building on the Soviet Past. Exhibiting Photography of the Baltic States

19 February to 2 March | ETH Zurich Hönggerberg, HIL D Foyer
Exhibition Opening: 19 February, 18:00–19:30

Curated by: Filippo Romano, Gylor Mydty and Joris Jehle
The exhibition displays student works of the fall 2017 seminar week, «Riga, Vilnius, Tallinn. Post-Soviet Urban Planning and Development in the Baltic States». The students documented their observations through photography, focusing on the urban and architectural legacies of the Soviet past and their current transformation and development.

Finissage

The Independent: Città Parangolé

25 February, 11:00–19:00 | MAXXI Museo nazionale delle arti del XXI secolo

This exhibition is a reflection on utopian theories and their consequent development within the ambit of the contemporary urban context. On show in the Carlo Scarpa Foyer will be an architectural model that translates the philosophy of the alternative city as a solution for the hypothetical future city of Piacenza and a graphic wall comparing present day city life with that of the future city.

European – South East Asian Architectural Dialogue:

Andra Matin (andramatin – Jakarta) meets Quintus Miller (Miller & Maranta – Basel)

27 February 2018, 18:30 | ETH Zürich Hönggerberg, HIT E51 (Siemens Auditorium)

Das FCL Singapur lädt zu einem weiteren Dialog zweier Persönlichkeiten der Architekturszene ein. Mit Andra Matin (andramatin, Jakarta) und Quintus Miller (Miller & Maranta Architekten, Basel) präsentiert das FCL in Zusammenarbeit mit der ETH zwei Architekten, die zwar geografisch und kulturell in sehr unterschiedlichen Räumen tätig sind, wohl aber einen verwandten Entwurfsansatz zu pflegen scheinen. Diese Vermutung soll auf den Prüfstand gestellt werden.

Exhibition

Inclusive Tangier: MAS Urban Design at the Rabat Architecture Biennale Agora ARCHITECTURE, VILLE ET CULTURE

23–25 March 2018 | Rabat, Morocco

Lecturers: Charlotte Malterre-Barthes, Director MAS, and Something Fantastic

In the frame of the Inclusive Urbanism/Migration semester in Tangier, works of the MAS Urban Design presenting projects for an inclusive neighbourhood in sites in Tangier will be shown at the Rabat Architecture Biennale. Inspecting the political, economic, and social reasons behind migration and the spatial conditions attached to both departure and arrival sites, the question of the relevance of design is addressed. How can urban designers tackle such situations? What does moving for a longer period of time and settling down socially, economically and culturally entails spatially at urban, rural and peri-urban scales? What can be the response of design to the notion of 'staying', in the framework of an inclusive urbanism practice?

Menschen und ihr Zuhause: Demografische Veränderungen, technologische Innovationen & neue Märkte

13 April 2018, ganztags | ETH Zürich, Auditorium Maximum (HG F30), Rämistrasse 101

Keynotes:

- Prof. Dr. h.c. Odile Decq, Studio Odile Decq Architectes Urbanistes, Paris
- Adam Greenfield, Gründer Urbanscale, New York

Die demografische Alterung ist zum vieldiskutierten Wachstumsfaktor geworden. Möglicher lange zu Hause zu wohnen ist weitverbreiteter Wunsch. Neue Märkte entstehen durch den dadurch steigenden Bedarf an vielfältigen Dienstleistungen, Kommunikations-, Technologien und Infrastrukturen. Dies wird auch die Entwicklung des Wohnbaubestands und dessen Bewirtschaftung massiv beeinflussen. Akteure und ihre Schnittstellen sind gefordert!

Anmeldung bis 3. April 2018: sylvia.mueller@arch.ethz.ch

Guest Lecture

Spatial and Infrastructure Development

25 April 2018, 12:45–16:30 | ETH Zurich Hönggerberg, HIL E9

Lecturers:

Dr. Dirk Seidemann, Mrs. Gaëlle Pinson, Ghodrat Eftekhari

As part of the course «Spatial and Infrastructure Development» in the Master's Degree programme, our three guest lecturers will discuss the highlights and challenges of the integrated spatial and transportation development in Germany, France and Iran. This event provides a wider perspective to a variety of projects in different contexts, and allows a platform for exchange and comparison.
