Migrants and Machine Politics

How India's Urban Poor Seek Representation and Responsiveness

15 February, 16:00–17:30 | University of Zurich, KOL-G-210, Rämistrasse 71, 8006 Zürich / hybrid

Discussants:

- Prof. Dr. David Kaufmann, Assistant Professor of Spatial Development and Urban Policy (SPUR), ETH Zürich, Institute for Spatial and Landscape Development
- Prof. Dr. Adam Michael Auerbach, American University Washington, D.C.

Migrants and Machine Politics shows how slum residents in India routinely defy false portrayals, actively constructing and welding political machine networks to demand important, albeit imperfect, representation and responsiveness within the country's expanding cities. It overturns longstanding assumptions about how political machines exploit the urban poor to stifle competition, foster ethnic favoritism, and entrench vote-buying.

Book Launch

Unearthing Traces

22 February, 17:00–18:30 | ETH Zürich, Hönggerberg, Foyer of the HIL

Discussion with: Mariam Kamara, Hollyamber Kennedy, Nolan Oswald Denis, Denise Bertschi, Julien Lafontaine Carbone, Nitin Bathla

Archival power, silences, and absences profoundly shape and structure postcolonial landscapes, and urban environments. The diverse range of contributions in the book offer original research, discussions, positions, and tools and provides a critical resource for scholars, architects, artists, activists, and archivists who want to engage with landscapes and built environments in a critical postcolonial perspective in relation to archival materials and practices.

Sessions on Territory is a series of public debates on the political economy of architecture and territory. The upcoming series focuses on politics and practices of repair that reduce exploitation, care for what already exists, repair what has been damaged, and conserve resources. Every intervention by a guest speaker is followed by a panel discussion with invited respondents. The sessions on repair are part of The Great Repair project, a collaboration between ARCH+, ETH Zurich, and Uni Luxembourg.
